Kits for kids

The United States Agency for International Development (USAID) has donated equipment worth N$320 000 to the Ministry of Basic Education, Sport and Culture to be used in the newly established HIV-AIDS management unit. The unit will distribute 1 450 HIV-AIDS health kits to schools nationwide. Here, US Ambassador Kevin McGuire hands over one of the kits to Minister of Basic Education John Mutorwa, while Foreign Affairs Minister Nahas Angula test-drives one of the six vehicles that will distribute the kits.
